Currently, there are 16,936 foreign residents living in Niigata Prefecture (according to the MOFA Census of Foreign Residents in December, 2021). As more foreign residents come to live here, communities have sprung up where people from the same country can help each other and exchange information. There are a number of these communities in Niigata Prefecture, and they are actively interacting and cooperating not only with individuals from their own countries, but also with Japanese citizens, so that they can live comfortably in their local regions. In this issue, we'll introduce 4 of those communities, their activities, and what they want for their local areas.

Niigata Philippine Society President Stevenson Allosa

Our Community

We are a non-profit organization of Filipinos, Japanese and non-Filipinos, registered as a Registered Filipino Community Organization (RFCO) with the Philippine Consulate General in Nagoya, Japan, with the aim of promoting and deepening social and cultural experiences in Niigata. Our organization seeks to provide periodic and prompt information and advice from the Consulate to Filipinos in Japan, especially on topics related to disaster preparedness and emergency assistance. We also aim to participate in official Consulate activities, network with other Filipino community organizations associations, and establish Niigata as a second home for Filipinos.

Our Activities

- General Meeting to Commemorate the Establishment of the Niigata Philippine Society
- Visit to the Philippine Consulate General in Nagoya
- Charity event for disaster relief in the Philippines
- Volunteer activities in the Philippines
- Consultation services for Filipinos living in the prefecture
- Local Exchange Events
 - Sponsorship and participation in the Filipino trainee basketball tournament, summer barbecue, Niigata Prefectural Student English Speech Contest, Philippines Independence Day, Christmas Party, etc.

Our Relationship with Niigata Prefecture

Through the establishment of the Niigata Philippine Society, we hope to foster a better relationship between the citizens of Niigata Prefecture and Filipinos living in the prefecture. Through our members' events and activities, we will strive to engage more Filipinos, prefectural residents and other foreign nationals to promote the social and cultural experiences of the people of Niigata Prefecture.

We also hope to attract more residents of the prefecture who are interested in the country and people of the Philippines, so we would like to create more people-to-people cultural exchanges.

Non-Resident Nepali Association (NRNA) Accountant Sunar Dipak

Our Community

We are a non-profit organization authorized by the government of Nepal. We offer various forms of support for Nepalese people that face difficulties living in Japan. We also hold activities such as exchange meetings which serve to deepen the friendship between our countries.

Our Activities

- (For Nepalese citizens)
- Support and assistance to reduce the burden on citizen's daily lives
 - Immigration process assistance
 - Responding when a citizen passes away
 - Exchange meetings, etc. (For the people of Niigata)
 - Community service activities such as donating blood at our organization

Our Relationship with Niigata Prefecture

There are many Nepalese people living in the prefecture, and their numbers are increasing year by year. Currently, of all the foreign nationalities living in Niigata, Nepalese are #6 (with just under 450 people ※), and they are studying and working at various places all throughout the prefecture.

Some Nepalese living in Japan have problems with Japanese rules and manners, such as how to properly dispose of garbage. The Japanese language—and kanji in particular—is very difficult for us, so there are many people who struggle with reading documents sent from government offices and other institutions, making it difficult to complete procedures. Because of that, we think it would be good to have an organization on hand where you can request a translator or interpreter. Going forward, it is important for not only Nepalese, but also other foreigners, to deepen communication with people in Niigata in order to better know each other. There are exchange meetings with foreigners in Niigata Prefecture, and our organization also holds such meetings. We hope to promote multicultural coexistence by strengthening our cooperation and partnership with Niigata Prefecture and its municipalities.

Vietnamese Association in Niigata

President Pham Phuong Linh

Our Community

Vietnam has the largest number of foreign workers by nationality in all of Niigata Prefecture※, and Vietnamese contribute massively to Niigata's economic development. We might be small compared to Vietnamese communities in other prefectures, but we are a very tight-knit group. In 2021, we were commended by the Embassy of the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam in Japan for our contributions to the promotion of international exchange.

※ Niigata Department of Labor: Status of Employment of Foreign Residents in Niigata Prefecture (As of October 2021)

Our Activities

- Mutual aid
- Activities to improve Japanese proficiency and specialist knowledge
- Exchange events for Vietnamese and Niigata Residents
- Cultural, economic and technical exchange between regions in Vietnam and Niigata Prefecture

Our Relationship with Niigata Prefecture

Our organization, which was created under the shadow of the COVID-19 pandemic, is overflowing with compassion and unity, and we regularly provide food aid and other assistances to Vietnamese people in need.

In order to promote cultural understanding and realize a multicultural coexisting society, we provide places for exchange between Vietnamese and people from Niigata, and host "café talks" and webinars to share information between Vietnamese that are active in various fields. Furthermore, we would like to introduce the diversity of Vietnam to people in the prefecture, and convey the charms of Niigata to Vietnam, while promoting mutual cultural, economic and technological exchanges. We believe that the development of global human resources is essential for Niigata Prefecture in the future, and we believe that this will be promoted through the participation of many residents of Niigata, regardless of nationality, in training programs at various organizations and companies in the prefecture. For that reason, we would like to ask for cooperation from all relevant organizations in Niigata Prefecture.

Our organization, which was created under the shadow of the COVID-19 pandemic, is overflowing with compassion and unity, and we regularly provide food aid and other assistances to Vietnamese people in need.

Niigata-Mongolia Association (NIMO)

President Dr. Batbadral Enkhbold

Our Community

The Niigata-Mongolia Association (NIMO) is an organization made up of Mongolian citizens that live or previously lived in Niigata Prefecture. In recent years, Japan and Mongolia have deepened their connections, and with an increase of young Mongolians coming to Niigata to study abroad, our organization was founded in January of 2015. Our goal is to exchange information and mutual assistance to Mongolians living in Niigata, including exchange students, plan events related to Mongolia, and act as a bridge between Niigata and Mongolia.

Our Activities

- Community building and providing supports to Mongolian nationals residing in Niigata Prefecture by information exchange, organizing events, advice and help to settle for the newcomers
- Engage in activities for expansion and strengthening of economic relations and cooperation between Niigata prefecture and Mongolia
- Organize events to publicize culture, economy, and life of Mongolia in Niigata prefecture
- Contribute to matchmaking between Mongolian and Japanese SMEs (small and medium enterprises)
- Support and contribute to humanitarian and public activities in Mongolia

Our Relationship with Niigata Prefecture

We believe that mutual understanding among various nations and nationalities are fundamental for peace and prosperity of all the humankind and socializing and community building activities are an integral part of it. Therefore, NIMO members are trying to contribute to this mutual understanding by voluntarily organizing various events in Niigata prefecture, such as Mongolia Fair, to introduce Mongolia's culture, livelihood and the economy to the local residents. We hope the people and businesses in Niigata will have a better understanding about Mongolia at such events and become interested in developing various cooperation with Mongolia.

In order to promptly respond to complex issues about multiculturalism and to make it easier for prefectural and foreign residents to consult with our center, the Foreign Resident Consultation Center of Niigata (FRCN) has strengthened our consultation system from April 2022.

(1) Added a Russian Language Interpreter

To support Ukrainian refugees, our Center has started offering consultations in Russian, available every day. We also use translation machines to respond to consultations in Ukrainian.

(2) Started Online Consultations & Reservations

As Niigata Prefecture is so large, it can be difficult for many people to come directly to our center for consultations. To help solve this, we have started offering online consultations using Zoom. You can talk face-to-face with our consultants and specialists while looking at documents, so you can have the same experience as an in-person consultation.

From our homepage, you can also make a reservation to talk with specialists such as an administrative scrivener (gyousei-shoshi), a lawyer, or a staff member from the Tokyo Regional Immigration Services Bureau. Just select the day you want to have your consultation and enter the necessary information. Of course, you can also make a reservation by calling or emailing us, so please feel free to make the use of our services!

(3) Introducing our Mascot Character: Yakkoi!

In order to introduce more citizens of Niigata and foreign residents to our center, we created a loveable mascot character. We asked the Animation School at Kaishi Professional University to create our character, and after a screening by the Review Committee, Sato Hitomi's design was adopted.

This character's name is "Yakkoi," which means "soft" (yawarakai) in Niigata's dialect. The accent is on the "ya" sound! The soft design and name of the character were selected to encourage people to feel free to consult with us. We plan to use Yakkoi in various situations, so please keep an eye out for it!

From the JICA Niigata Desk

Nice to meet you!
I am Nakamura Fumi.
I started working at the JICA Niigata Desk from May of this year.

Over my summer vacation in my 3rd year of university, after participating in a summer school at Thammasat University in Thailand, I was able to fulfill one of my dreams and did a home-stay with a minority group from Chiang Mai in a traditional stilt house. I saw shocking internal disparities with my own eyes in Thailand, which made me interested in international cooperation.

After that, I received my master's degree in agricultural economics in the UK, and after my job in commerce in India, I worked for JICA (Japan International Cooperation Agency) for 17 years.

I left JICA in 2020, and began my dream life in a thatched-roof home in Niigata. While fighting against the everyday weeds and bugs, I started working at JICA's Niigata Desk from May, 2022.

developing countries, we work to improve education, healthcare, agriculture and infrastructure, among other fields, in over 150 countries across Asia, Africa, Central and South America. Following our vision of "Leading the World with Trust," we aspire for a free, peaceful and prosperous world where people can hope for a better future and explore their diverse potentials.

JICA Niigata Desk is a consultation window in Niigata Prefecture that is here to spread the word about the kind of efforts JICA is making to the people of the prefecture, and to help connect those who are interested in international cooperation with action.

Until now, I have been involved in a reconstruction assistance project led by the late former JICA President Ogata Sadako, in which ethnic groups that were at odds with each other during their civil war worked together with Japanese third parties to restore agricultural production bases and technologies damaged by the war, with the aim of restoring economic activity and fostering mutual trust among the ethnic groups. In Peru, where I was posted overseas, I also provided emergency assistance during the major earthquake that occurred off the coast of Peru shortly after my arrival, and I worked with the then-newly established Peruvian Ministry of Environment on waste management issues. At the same time, I was engaged in a project to introduce integrated waste management to local cities to improve waste collection systems and increase recycling, while building 31 new sanitary landfills nationwide, up from four.

Inspection trip to Uzbekistan

I sometimes wonder if international cooperation is hypocritical, as what I can do is very small in response to the diverse and complicated problems of the world. Then I think of the words of my friend from school who fought in the Eritrean civil war for independence: "The fact that people want to know about us gives me strength;" and I remember my Peruvian coworkers, who were positive to no end, saying "It's gotta get done!" This makes me challenge myself to do what I can.

Developing countries are full of fascinating cultures and people who have more to offer than just the challenges they face, and working with them can enrich and soften your thinking and feelings. International cooperation may seem a bit complicated, but why don't we start by "thinking" about the things we "know" we learned?
